State officials ponder future of state education

By MATT HORTENSTINE

Staff writer

Budget decisions which will have serious effects on the programs offered to Eastern students are being proposed by the state's government and education officials.

Gov. James R. Thompson's budget director, Robert Mandeville, has requested that state agencies and departments develop proposals that could cut up to five percent from their current budgets.

The Illinois General Assembly's decision to keep 1988 state spending levels at 1987 levels without passing a tax-hike has caused Thompson and Mandeville to act. Thompson said the $10.7 billion General Fund spending plan cannot be sustained by available revenues if the state is to remain on stable fiscal ground.

Thus, Thompson has set a reduced spending target of $10.4 billion, requiring $370 million in cuts from the appropriations bills approved by lawmakers.

"We have contacted the agencies to get their positions on where the cuts should come," Mandeville said. "We have asked them for a five percent walk down."

That means each administrator will be asked to tell how he would suggest cutting the five percent in stages, with the first cuts being the lowest priority programs and the last ones the most important to the agency.

However, this will not cut the $3.2 billion in the Department of Public Aid's budget.

We won't be able to cut welfare spending because of the legislature's refusal to change public aid entitlement programs for fiscal year 1988," Mandeville said.

Consequently, with more than $4.1 billion of the 1988 budget allocated for education, many of the budget cuts will have to come out of education.

In response, Eastern President Stanely Rives temporarily put a freeze on the creation and filling of new positions at Eastern as of July 1.

"That decision was made to simply preserve our flexibility for the future," Rives said. "What we are looking at is a four to five percent budget cut below the 1987 budget," he said.

While Rives did not know what cuts would occur, he did comment on the probable effects.

"They (the budget cuts) will have a serious consequence on the educational programs available to students here at Eastern," Rives said.

The threatened cuts in education would amount to $113 million below the 1987 budget level statewide. Ted Sanders, the state school superintendent, and Dick Wagner, executive director of the state board of higher education, are proposing the budget cut plans for elementary, secondary and higher education.

"We have to be guided by the agency heads who are telling us where the cuts will do the least damage," Mandeville said. "We are trying to fashion a budget we can live with. I would prefer that it maximize attrition and minimize layoffs," he said.

The final decisions are expected to be made by Gov. Thompson by the middle of next week.

North: diverting profits 'neat idea'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lt. Col. Oliver North told Iran-Contra hearings Wednesday it was a "neat idea" to divert proceeds from Iranian arms sales to the Contra rebels, and stoutly defended the sale of arms in exchange for freedom for three American hostages.

Back in the witness chair for a second straight day of televised hearings, North also denied that President Reagan told him it was "important that I not know" about the diversion of the profits to the Nicaraguan rebels.

"I don't recall the conversation that way," North told House counsel John Nields, who was asking about a phone call last Nov. 25 from Reagan to the man he had just fired from the National Security Council staff.

As North fielded questions, key lawmakers said they believe the thrust of his first day's testimony—that he acted on orders from above in what he did. The result would be to place great importance on the expected testimony next week of Vice Adm. John Poindexter, who was national security adviser during much of North's tenure on the staff.

As he did on Tuesday, North appeared in his Marine uniform, complete with six rows of ribbons. He wore silver-framed glasses to aid in reading documents that Nields frequently called to his attention.

The morning produced its share of legal sparring. North's attorney, Brendan Sullivan, accused the committees of conducting a "stall job" by prolonging questioning of his client.

"May the record show that it took four-and-a-half minutes to explain the stall," Inouye replied in a sarcastic bass.

In other testimony, North:

—Gave a flavor of the covert world in which he operated. Nields referred to notes North made of a conversation with Israeli Amiram Nir in which the NSC aide wrote that "Joshua has approved proceeding as we had hoped" to replenish the weapons that Israel had sold to Iran.

North said he thought "Joshua" was a code name for Israeli officials. Advised to look it up on a code sheet, he said "I was wrong, I had forgotten the codes."

Nields: "Who was Joshua?"

North: "The president."

—Sparred with Nields over whether retired Air Force Maj. Gen. Richard V. Secord was an "authorized agent" in his role in arranging the sale of arms to Iran. Shown a document that he drafted for Poindexter to send to Reagan suggesting that an authorized agent, namely Secord, could be used to sell U.S. weapons to Iran, North demurred.

"Secord was the broker for the transaction," he said. The distinction may be important, because Secord claims he was not an authorized agent of the government, and thus was not barred from placing some of the proceeds into Swiss bank accounts, where $8 million remains.

North said Secord, whom he described as "this poor man," was first brought in handling deals for the United States as an "outside entity," in 1984 at the suggestion of then-CIA Director William J. Casey.

North defense accuses panel of stalling

WASHINGTON (AP)—In a crackling word battle over the shape and duration of Lt. Col. Oliver North's testimony, his lawyer accused congressional questioners Wednesday of a "deliberate stall," harmful to his client's interests.

"As a trial lawyer, I know a stall when I see it," said North's attorney, Brendan Sullivan, renowned for his own hold-nothing-back defense tactics.

Sullivan was told by members of the Iran-Contra committees that the slow pace of the questioning was his own fault.

The problem lies with Sullivan's earlier refusal to permit North to undergo preliminary questioning in private, a routine accepted by all other witnesses, committee members said.

"If we had done that we would have known which rabbit trails not to go down," Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Texas, said earlier.

Sullivan opened the skirmish on Wednesday, continuing a tug-of-war with the committees for control of the terms and conditions of North's testimony that began weeks before the fired National Security Council staff member's first public appearance on Tuesday.

"I should put it on the record right now that we are being subjected to a stall job," Sullivan said.

'Lame-duck talk is for the birds'

NEW BRITAIN, Conn.—President Reagan, taking his tax-and-spend battle with Congress on the road, asserted today that his administration has not run out of steam and that "all that lame-duck talk is for the birds."

Reagan spoke at the City Hall of this central Connecticut city as Lt. Col. Oliver North took the witness stand in Washington to continue testifying about the Iran-Contra affair, which has wounded Reagan's presidency.

As Reagan spoke, making no mention of North, the shouts of protesters could be heard from across the square.

LaRouche points finger at North

BOSTON—Political extremist Lyndon H. LaRouche said today that covert operations by Lt. Col. Oliver North contributed to LaRouche's indictment on charges of plotting to block an investigation of his 1984 presidential campaign finances.

North and the National Security Council were "involved in operations against me," LaRouche said at a news conference, alleging that the council was working with the Justice Department in seeking the indictment against him.

LaRouche also said that unidentified "friends" were approached by North after North was fired from the council.

House votes to delay gulf policy

WASHINGTON—The House voted 222-184 Wednesday for a 90-day delay in President Reagan's plan to protect Kuwaiti oil tankers sailing in the Persian Gulf, but the vote is not likely to derail the policy.

The Democratic-controlled chamber split generally along party lines in approving the appeal as an amendment to a bill authorizing next year's Coast Guard budget.

But the Senate hasn't yet approved the bill nor any request for a delay, and that chamber would also have to approve a delay before the measure would go to the White House.

House acts on federal ties to illegal drug-smuggling

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House subcommittee voted Wednesday to subpoena three Miami-based federal prosecutors, in a so-far mainly secret investigation into whether Reagan administration officials supported illegal drug and gun smuggling to benefit the Nicaraguan Contras.

Attorney General Edwin Meese III has refused to allow the prosecutors to be questioned by subcommittee investigators in a year-long investigation by the panel of alleged drug-smuggling, gun-running and money laundering by and for the Nicaraguan rebels.

"We're looking specifically at some alleged wrongdoing on the part of the Department of Justice," subcommittee chairman William Hughes, D-N.J., told the panel. "...We have no other recourse at this point but to subpoena the witnesses or walk away from our constitutional responsibilities."

Said another subcommittee member, Rep. Lawrence J. Smith, D-Fla.; "We are investigating the possibility that the Justice Department impeded a criminal investigation."

The vote by the Judiciary Committee's crime subcommittee split along party lines. Republicans opposed the subpoenas on the grounds the action would interfere with the work of the House and Senate Iran-Contra committees.

But Democrats, prevailing 6-4, voted to compel testimony by assistant U.S. attorneys Jeffrey Feldman, David Leiwant and Lawrence Sharf. All three prosecutors are assigned to the Miami-based Southern District of Florida.

Lawyer: Bork defends free press

CHICAGO (AP)—Robert H. Bork would be a staunch defender of First Amendment rights if his nomination to the U.S. Supreme Court were approved, says a Chicago lawyer who served as a clerk for Bork.

Bork supports freedom of the press, which is addressed in the Constitution, because of his belief that "one should interpret the Constitution as the framers intended it," said attorney David Stryker.

Stryker, a graduate of Indiana University Law School and a native of Bloomington, Ind., served as a clerk for Bork in Washington, D.C., from June 1983 through July 1984.

Stryker is quick to defend Bork against accusations of being a conservative ideologue. He calls Bork "a man of complete integrity."

But he says there is "no question that Judge Bork is a proponent of what is called judicial restraint."

That carries over, he said, into controversial issues such as abortion, where Bork's criticism of the ruling that allowed abortions is well-known.

"It's clear the judge does not believe the privacy rights on which Roe vs. Wade were based are found in the Constitution," Stryker said.

Eastern blood drive short of goal by 70 pints

By COLLEEN BREHM
Staff writer

Although many donors showed up for Tuesday's blood drive in the University Union's Grand Ballroom, the drive still failed to reach its goal.

Mark Bomball, co-chairman of the blood drive, said the goal at Eastern was 220 pints. About one hour before the drive was over, they only had 150 pints.

"There's just not enough people on campus. They say enrollment is up, but a lot of people commute or are involved in workshops," he said.

Bomball also added the low turnout could have been a result of the AIDS epidemic. "I do believe it is one of the factors involved. People are getting more educated about AIDS, but there are still a lot of people out there that still think you can contract the disease from giving blood."

Carol Bomball, a volunteer for the blood drive, thought Tuesday's drive would be more successful. "Yesterday's (Monday's) goal at the (St. Charles) Catholic Church was 110 pints; we got 140 pints. That led me to believe that both places would even out. People have been trickling in all day, but not in the numbers we need."

KEVIN SMITH / Staff photographer

Dennis Wasetis raises her arm after giving blood as a Red Cross volunteer assists at the blood drive held in the Union

Grand Ballroom Tuesday. Only 150 pints of blood were collected; 70 pints below the original goal.

Jo Cooley, a regular Red Cross volunteer, believes the goal was not reached for several reasons, some of which included AIDS, Eastern's enrollment and people on vacation.

"The people who have given, that I know, always show. they are constant. Maybe it's just harder to get new donors to come and give," Cooley said. "It is scary, especially for first timers. All the old ones are diligent and conscientious. One thing is for sure. There really is a need for blood," he said.

Tornado damages Mattoon Power Plant

By RODNEY DENESEUS
Staff writer

The Charleston area is pulling itself back together after Monday evening's storm left the vicinity somewhat frazzled.

Classes resumed Wednesday at Lake Land Community College in Mattoon after the storm caused excessive damage to the campus.

Tina Kniefin, Mattoon Emergency Services and Disaster Agency spokesperson, said a tornado touched down, tearing off the chimney and part of the roof of the power plant building at about 7:30 p.m.

The tornado then continued across the southeast parking lot destroying three cars and spreading glass and debris everywhere. After the roof was torn off, rain poured into the building causing electrical shorts that cut off the power to the campus.

A spokesperson for Lakeland said immediate repairs are underway to replace the roof along with the plumbing and smoke stacks. Estimates on the damage will not be available until later in the week, he said.

Around the Charleston area there were numerous reports of power lines down and fallen branches. Eastern's campus also suffered widespread damage and debris from the storm.

Winds reported in excess of 55 mph by Central Illinois Public Service Co. employee Norm Spear

Numerous power lines were knocked down throughout the city causing a temporary blackout in some areas. The damage amounts for the fallen power lines are not available at this time, Spear said. The real damage is the loss of many beautiful trees, he said.

The high winds bent over the flagpole in front of Old Main. John Collins, Eastern's Physical Plant grounds foreman said that eight trees had cut down around the campus for safety reasons after they partially fell down during the storm.

Even the O'Brien Stadium football field wasn't excluded from the damage as the south flag pole was damaged by the high winds.

Repairs and removal of debris continuing Wednesday, including the lowering of the flagpole in an effort to repair it or else a replacement will have to be ordered.

Dwayne Horath, a Charleston Street Department employee, said that crews were out after midnight Tuesday morning trying to reopen streets which were covered with fallen branches. The removal of debris was expected to be completed by Wednesday.

Tarble Arts: where it's at

Despite a vacancy in the curator position, Tarble Arts Center's summer programs are filled.

Included in the summer program are classes and workshops for children and adults, along with displays from local artists.

At this time no exhibits have been scheduled because of the lack of a curator.

One upcoming event at the arts center is a tatting class held every Saturday in August. Tarble's classes and programs are an effort to "involve children and adults from the surrounding area as well as the university," said staff member Edith Malehorn.

Lies, deceit not standards for heroes

An ABC News poll taken after Lt. Col. Oliver North's first day of testimony in the Iran-Contra hearings showed a majority of viewers believe he performed well, that he is telling the truth and should not be prosecuted.

We have to ask, how can a man who has admitted lying and using deceitful tactics in a cover-up attempt be held so high in the public's trust?

As America listens to North's version of the "truth" unfold in his testimony before congressional investigators, there needs to be more scrutiny taken as to just what took place.

One criteria Americans pay too much attention to is looks and appearance—important virtues, but by no means the whole picture.

In the same way we elect presidents these days, looks rank ahead of substance. Col. North looks good, therefore he can be trusted.

There is no doubt North presents an immaculate and somewhat pompous image with his decorated Marine Corps uniform and that look of sincerity which accompanies his responses.

He is sincere. He has admitted to almost every allegation thrown at him with a "so what" attitude as he continues to deny wrongdoing in any of his actions.

North sincerely believes what was done was in America's best interests—even if it meant lying, as he claims covert operations require.

The North image itself unfolds as one of a man who was given an order from his superiors which he carried out in the militaristic manner which has been his way of doing things for 23 years in the Marines.

And America accepts the fact that the Reagan administration placed this responsibility in the hands of someone with that go-get-'em-at-all-costs approach.

This is a dangerous approach when engaging in a foreign policy that much of the world questions.

Col. North has been referred to as a hero for his efforts by some. Therefore, no apology for lying to the American people and failing to inform Congress is needed.

We truly are gullible if we accept that lies are just part of being a hero.

Iran-Contra hearings go 'prime time'

With the popularity of the current "court" shows—The People's Court, Divorce Court and a new one I ran across last Saturday, Superior Court—I'm surprised that the American viewing audience isn't more receptive to the Iran-Contra hearings.

In fact, I even expected the hearings (now at the climactic testimony of Lt. Col. Oliver North) to be the topic not only of news coverage and everyday conversation, but perhaps a fall mini-series as well.

But in order for "The Iran-Contra Court" to ever succeed in prime-time TV—or even mid- to late-afternoon TV—a couple of changes would have to be made.

First of all, the live, day-long coverage of the event must be edited to fit into a 23-minute time slot—to allow for commercial breaks, naturally. Allow about 51 minutes if the networks decide to go with an hour-long program.

Let's face it, they can't expect American viewers to give up many more afternoons of soaps. The hearings were fine when they ran on CNN; viewers had the option of watching the proceedings rather than being forced to give up General Hospital.

North and his attorney, Brendan V. Sullivan Jr., make a good combo for the defense—the rugged, well-groomed army hero and his preppy lawyer. Fawn Hall would probably have to be replaced by someone a little more glamorous but equally self-righteous—Suzanne Somers, maybe. And the mass of House committee members are OK, as crowd shots reveal them depicting just the right amount of alternating confusion and boredom.

From the bits and pieces I've managed to catch of the hearings, I know one character definitely has to go: House committee counsel John Nields. The man is too dry for the elusive North.

Diana

I think an appropriate replacement would be the church lady from Saturday Night Live's satirical "Church Chat." Picture, if you will, the following script...

Church Lady (in a condescending tone of voice): So, Col. North, you say that you're not quite sure that President Reagan gave you complete authorization to divert funds from the Iranian arms sale profits to Nicaraguan rebels?

North: What I do know, ma'am, is that I never carried out a single act, not one, in which I did not have authority from my superiors.

Church Lady: Have you ever stopped to think that perhaps you were authorized and even coerced to do this little deed by someone, like, perhaps... Satan?

North: I do know, ma'am, that I have not in the 23 years that I have been in uniformed service violated an order; not one.

Church Lady: Why, we're just a little bit full of ourselves, aren't we, colonel?

North: I'd also like to say, ma'am, that I did a lot of things and I want to stand up and say I'm proud of them... I thought it was a neat idea at the time, and I still think it was a neat idea.

Church Lady: Well, isn't that special? But don't you think all of us fine, upstanding citizens such as yourself would like to try something neat like that? Then under the sinful eye of Satan perhaps we all could just go behind everyone's back and maybe give some more money to those wonderful Contras so they could whip those nasty Sandanistas into the ground?! Now wouldn't that be special, Col. North?

Even if we do find out exactly who did what and who knew what in the Iran-Contra affair, the whole hearing thing is too good to last for just a few short months. I, for one, expect to see even more of North and Co. this fall. In fact, I even look forward to it.

Battle of Britain achieved success

Editor:

The words cease, void, silence and emptiness describe the absence of things. The closing scene of the movie "The Battle of Britain" shows a sky dotted with a few clouds and the sounds of seagulls playing freely through its otherwise peaceful void. Absent are the warplanes with their screaming and droning engines and chattering guns.

It is the scene of a just peace.

Brittania rules her skies. Hitler's air raids did not then cease; but, because of British control in the air, he did cancel his plans to invade Great Britain.

That result is why we say the British won the Battle of Britain. This victory clearly set the western boundary of Hitler's National-Socialist empire. It also represented the first setback for Hitler since his armies and Stalin's Soviet Socialist armies invaded Poland as allies to provoke the beginning of World War II. The importance of the British achievement could be appreciated if we try to imagine their conquest by Hitler who also might have obtained their navy. Try also to imagine the Normandy invasion without allied help and the British Isles as its base. It is worth noticing that their achievement was done without mass destruction. The Battle of Britain began July 10, 1940. As Americans, we should agree with Winston Churchill in saying, "Never in the field of human conflict was so much owed by so many to so few." Star Warriors.

Woman dies in bicycle accident

By GRETCHEN IVES
City/entertainment editor

A Mattoon women died Tuesday morning from injuries she sustained while bicycling to Charleston on Illinois Route 16.

Pennie Lynn Summers, 23, was riding to a jazzercise exercise class when she was struck from behind by an eastbound car. Summers was pronounced dead at 7:55 a.m. by Coles County Coroner Dick Lynch.

The driver of the vehicle, Donald L. Shaum Jr., 20, of Elkhart, Ind., told police that he never saw Summers riding alongside the road. The incident occurred at 7:30 a.m. near Sarah Bush Lincoln Health Center.

Shaum was ticketed for failing to reduce speed to avoid an accident and for failing to wear a seat belt, said Officer Mike Smith of the Charleston Police Department.

Although the probability of any other tickets or charges being filed is unlikely, it is still being investigated, said Mark Novak, the Coles County assistant state's attorney.

An autopsy is not being scheduled because the cause of death is known, said Lynch.

"The results of the toxicology test, required by the state, won't be known until early next week," said Lynch.

It is still unknown whether Summers was riding on the shoulder of the road. Officials are also trying to find out what type of role the sun played in the accident. An eastbound driver at the time of the accident could have been blinded by the sun if it was out.

Officials have two witnesses that they are trying to contact about the accident. It is also unknown exactly where Summers was riding when the accident occurred.

Summers probably could not hear any traffic because she was wearing a Walkman, a radio/tape player with headphones, playing at a high volume, said Lynch.

Lynch believes Shaum wasn't driving any faster than 55 miles per hour.

Local farmers sell their produce at the Coles County Farmer's Market on the Charleston square Wednesday morning. The weekly event held every Wednesday from 7-9 a.m. is becoming popular as it features the best in area home-grown produce at low prices.

Farmer's market builds tradition

By JOHNNA CONYERS
Staff writer

The Coles County Farmer's Market has become a tradition.

Every Wednesday from 7:30 to 9 a.m. area residents gather on the Charleston Square to buy and sell produce. Anyone can participate in the market. The only stipulation is that participants grow part of what they sell.

Farmer's Market has provided areas residents the opportunity to buy and sell a wide variety of produce for ten years. The market was started by the Uptown Merchants in 1977. The market is currently being run by co-chairs Marge Knoop and Marge Frommel.

The annual event takes place during the summer season. This year the market will close on Sept. 2. We will "continue to have the market until the demand just isn't there anymore," said Knoop.

Wednesday the Farmer's Market experienced its largest turnout ever, said Frommel. "The high nutritional value and the freshness of the produce is what draws people to the market," said Art Snider, a participant of the market.

Dedication to the cause is shown by many participants such as Art Falkenhain, who picks his produce at dawn to insure freshness for the market that day.

This year has been no exception when it comes to the market fulfilling its high standards of good produce. Recent rains have helped in the abundance of produce. Except for potatoes which have suffered adverse effects because of the rain.

Activities abound in area during hot summer months

LORI CRITES
Staff writer

Stranded in Charleston for the summer? Bored with the bar scene? Well, don't fret.

Other entertainment alternatives exist for those willing to venture beyond campus.

Friends and Co. Resident Theatre, 509 Van Buren, will present Susan Bennett's play "Phenobia, Mitochondria, and the Nuclear Family" every Thursday through Saturday throughout the remainder of July. The curtain opens at 8 p.m.

Tom Kee, director of operations, said the play centers around a farming family whose crops are failing, which leads to deceit, murder and human sacrifice.

The play is comedy, tragedy, realism, surrealism and more, Kee said.

Traditionally, man loses his sense of reason when dealing with some situations and may resort to superstition. This family has run out of answers," he said.

The play is directed by Suzanne Kee and Eastern student Dawn Copeland is the assistant director.

Dinner theatre tickets cost $10 per person and include a full dinner of veal parmesan, chicken, portwine or seafood bisque. The performance only $5 per person, and bench seats cost $3 per person.

The theatre is a non-profit organization and is publicly funded.

"I feel by pleasing the community members with our work we can bring forth a demand for provocative entertainment, which I feel already exists," Tom Kee said.

A 19th century trades fair will be held from noon to 5 p.m. July 18 and 19 at the Lincoln Log Cabin State Park, the last home of Abe's father and step-mother, Thomas and Sarah Bush Lincoln. The park is located eight miles south of Charleston on 4th Street.

Shoemaking, blacksmithing, basket weaving, looming, canning, quilting, woodworking, and candlemaking are some trades which will be represented at the fair.

Tradesmen, dressed in typical 1840's attire, will discuss the history of their trades while demonstrating their skills.

A bluegrass festival is scheduled from noon to 5 p.m. on Aug. 9 at the Lincoln Log Cabin.

Area musicians will play traditional and bluegrass music in open air performances. The public is invited to bring lawn chairs.

Food concessions will be available at both events, and there is no charge for the programs. A gift shop and picnic facilities are also located at the site.

Fox Ridge State Park, located eleven miles south of Charleston on Illinois Route 130, is offering an opportunity for students to reach for the stars.

Science instructors from Eastern and across the state will provide students with information about the stars, planets and galaxies from 9:30 to 11:30 p.m. Thursday and July 16 and 23.

Instructors will demonstrate how to set up telescopes and make suggestions on purchasing them.

Transportation arrangements may be made by phoning the park at 345-6416 Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Alabama, REO Speedwagon and Eddie Money are the biggest box office attractions at the Illinois State Fair in Springfield this year.

Eddie Money will be performing Aug. 13. On Aug. 17, REO Speedwagon will go on stage, and Alabama is scheduled for Aug. 22.

Other performances include the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, Aug. 14, Gladys Knight and The Pips, Aug. 18, and Willie Nelson with Kris Kristofferson, Aug. 19.

Stevie Ray Vaughan will appear with the Gregg Allman Band on Aug. 20, and Restless Heart will perform with Alabama Aug. 22.

Each grandstand show begins at 8 p.m. Tickets may be purchased at the grandstand ticket office or ordered by mail from the Illinois State Fair Ticket Office, P.O. Box 576 Springfield, IL 62705.

Ticketmaster outlets throughout Illinois will also sell tickets for the shows.

The Cross County Mall in Mattoon has scheduled several events for the summer months, said Kim Knox, administrative assistant and promotional manager.

On July 11, contestants will lift barbells over their heads as they participate in a deadlift contest.

A four-wheeler show can be observed during mall hours July 31, Aug. 1 and 2. The K.V.K. Dancers, a troupe of area women, will perform on the same dates at 11 a.m., 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. in the mall.

"The K.V.K. Dancers do a little bit of everything, including scenes from videos," Knox said.

A comedy act featuring Dick Conlin will be held at 2 p.m. Aug. 9 in the mall, and an antique car show can be viewed Aug. 16.

For those who want to do some shopping, the mall's sidewalk sales will be held from July 16 to 18 and Dollar Days from Aug. 14 to 16.

The most fast-paced event in Charleston occurs at 7:30 every Saturday night at the Charleston Speedway, four miles east of Charleston on Route 16.

Drivers from all over the area gather to test their skills at the races. Time trials begin at 6:30 p.m.

NBA, NAACP reach pact

NEW YORK (AP)—The NBA and NAACP announced a joint agreement Wednesday aimed at increasing minority off-the-court employment in the league. NAACP Executive Director Benjamin Hooks said similar agreements could follow with baseball and football.

Although the agreement contained formal guidelines for accomplishing its purpose, NBA Commissioner David Stern said, "This is a mandate that is not being put on the teams, but one I'm sure will welcome."

Hooks and Stern said no percentage had been set. They said they would begin meetings immediately with as many NBA teams as possible. Hooks said local NAACP branches already had been in touch with 12 NBA teams, 20 major league baseball teams and 15 NFL teams.

"We know about goals and timetables, give me," Hook said, "but we will work with the individual teams on it. If I say we're going to get two, and we only get one, then I'll be disappointed."

"We don't want to play a numbers game," Stern said at a news conference with Hooks.

In a joint statement, both the basketball league and the civil rights organization said progress would be monitored closely.

Hooks said he had met with baseball Commissioner Peter Ueberroth, and they had agreements with about six major league teams. Those agreements have yet to be signed by the NAACP because they have not been reviewed.

"I'll be in touch with Pete Roxelle and we'll work out something in the next few days," Hooks said about the NFL commissioner.

"I'm sure our agreements with baseball and football will be the same as basketball, but I am sure they are willing to work with us," Hooks said.

While 75 percent of all NBA players are black, Stern said only 30 percent of office positions are occupied by blacks. There are four black NBA coaches and two black general managers.

"It's not a matter of statistics with us," Stern said. "It's a matter of commitment. There will be a formal structure. I can't direct my teams, but very often my requests are honored."

Stern said his league and the NAACP were concerned not only with player-related jobs, but also with jobs in such areas as marketing, publicity and security.

Yankees beat Twins in game between division leaders

NEW YORK (AP)—Don Mattingly bled twice and Rice Henderson hit four hits Wednesday as the New York Yankees routed the Minnesota Twins 13-4.

Mattingly hit a three-run homer in the first inning off Twins starter Mike Johnson, 4-5, to give the Yankees a lead. He also led off the sixth with a 10th homer of the season.

Mark Salas and Mike Pagliarulo also bled for the Yankees, who had 16 hits off Minnesota pitchers.

Salas, hit a pinch three-run homer in the fifth off reliever Juan Berenguer. Pagliarulo sparked a six-run rally in the sixth with a two run homer, his 15th of the season.

Rick Rhoden, 11-5, pitched the first five innings for the Yankees, allowing six hits and all four Twins runs. Pat Clemens pitched the final four innings for his fourth save.

Payton bids Arena league cheerful, happy goodbye

Panther Notebook/ Dan Verdun

Sean Payton said that he has no regrets about leaving the newly formed Arena Football League to sign with the Ottawa Rough Riders of the Canadian Football League.

"I have no bad feelings toward Arena football," Payton said. "It (signing with Ottawa) was just in my best interests at this time."

There seems to be little doubt that Payton, Eastern's all-time leading passer, wasn't happy playing in the Arena league.

First of all, Arena football is built around roll-out quarterbacks that can both run and throw on the run. Payton is strictly a dropback quarterback.

In addition, Payton found himself in a secondary role by backing up starter Mike Hold. He saw action in just one game, and half of that was spent at wide receiver.

Moreover, the Chicago Bruisers—Payton's old team—are the worst club in the four-team Arena league, not yet having won a game.

"The Bruisers looked really rough," Payton said. "They don't really have any continuity to the team."

Still Payton insists he holds no hard feelings toward Arena football, the Bruisers or head coach Ray Jauch.

Canadian clubs

Payton's signing with Ottawa made him the fifth former Eastern player to join the CFL.

Quarterback Ed Soergel was the first Panther to go north of the border. He played the 1952 season with the Toronto Argonauts after spending the 1951 campaign with the Cleveland Browns of the National Football League.

Defensive end Pete Catan and wide receiver Scott McGhee, both key members on Eastern's 1978 Division-II national championship team, also played in the CFL.

Catan spent three seasons with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers from 1981-83 before playing in both the USFL and NFL. Catan, the Panthers' all-time leading sacker, was selected as Lineman of the Year once.

McGhee, who once caught a school-record four touchdown passes in a single game, played with Toronto from 1982-83. During that period, McGhee's team won the Grey Cup once. He then rejoined Catan as a member of the USFL's Houston Gamblers for two seasons.

Offensive tackle Steve Parker was the fourth Panther to play Canadian football. Parker, the older brother of current Eastern defensive star Carl Parker, was with the Hamilton Tiger-Cats in 1982 prior to a two-year NFL career with the Baltimore-Indianapolis Colts.

New look

New plays and philosophies won't be the only thing that first-year Eastern football coach Bob Spoo and his staff will bring into the Panther program.

For the first time since the 1983 season, the helmets worn by Eastern players will bear an emblem. However, the emblem won't be a Panther as in past seasons. Instead, players will don helmets with a stylish EIU insignia on them.

Women cagers keep busy during summer

LEE DIEKEMPER / Staff photographer

Eastern's women's head basketball coach Barbara Hilke looks on as participants in her annual girls high school basketball camp run through their plays. Hilke says that she is looking forward to the upcoming season.

By LEE DIEKEMPER

One would think that the life of a head basketball coach during the off-season summer months would be easy. That's not always the case, especially with the Panthers women's head basketball mentor, Barbara Hilke.

This summer, as in the past summers at Eastern, Hilke has been directing a girls basketball camp at Lantz Gym. This summer, the size of the participants are down slightly. Ninety-one young healthy, energetic high school girls are sweating out the practice sessions at Lantz.

"Usually, we have around 100 girls in camp but this year we're a little under that," said Hilke. "It keeps us busy," Hilke said.

The camp, which lasts a week, isn't just a few hours a day type activity. This camp runs from 9:00 in the morning to 11:00 at night. But the camp isn't physical work the entire day.

"We spend a lot of time on instruction," said Hilke. "Over half of the time is spent in the instruction phase," said Hilke.

Obviously, Hilke can't conduct the camp by herself with 91 campers eager to learn new skills on the hard wood floor. So Hilke went out and gathered a staff.

"Most of the girls (Hilke's Panther squad) are here helping me run the camp. And I have some coaches from high schools in Florida, Maryland here," said Hilke. Hilke also has high school coaches from Belleville Altoft, Paxton and Arcola assisting her in carrying out her duties at the camp.

A number of schools are represented at the camp. The high school with the most representatives is Breese Mater Dei. Breese Mater Dei also happens to be the alma mater of two of Hilke's players, and a future player. Those being Shelly Ethridge, Barb Perkes, and Stacey Friedrich respectively.

"I guess Shelly is my recruit there," said Hilke. "Shelly came here and liked it her freshman year and got Barb and Stacey to join," said Hilke.

There had been some concern in the spring about Friedrich's a knee injury that cropped up on Fredrich while she competed on the team at Mater Dei.

"Her knee is perfectly fine now," (Friedrich) said that there's nothing wrong with her knee at all. It (knee injury) was kind of weird. It came and went without any warning," said Hilke.

Hilke noted that along with Ethridge, Friedrich, and Perkes, Brenda Webb will be competing in the Prairie State Games that are to be held next week in Champaign.

Shelly, Stacey and Barb will be competing on the South squad, while Webb will be competing on the BlueGray squad. Another player, Cavanaugh will also be competing in the games, but not in basketball. Cavanaugh will be on the West squad.

Later this summer, Hilke's Panthers will be readying themselves for the upcoming season, which will be Hilke's 9th at the helm of the Panthers. Hilke is looking forward to the season.

"We have a good mix of upperclassmen, and youngsters. The upperclassmen obviously have experience, while the youngsters have a lot of determination," Hilke said. "This is probably the best group I've coached at Eastern that get along well. They really hustle hard."

If last season's showing in the season play is any barometer, the Panther's upcoming season will be something to look forward to.

Sunberg's clout beats Padres, 12-8

CHICAGO (AP)—Jim Sunberg's pinch hit grand slam in the eighth inning highlighted an eight run rally that gave the Chicago Cubs a 12-8 victory over the San Diego Padres Wednesday.

The victory gave the Cubs a sweep of the three game series.

The Cubs trailed 8-4 entering the bottom of the eighth, but rallied to take a 12-8 lead.

Chicago loaded the bases on a single by Keith Moreland, and walks to Jody Davis and Manny Trillo. Sunberg then hit his fourth homer of the season off loser Lance McCullers, 4-6.

Following the grand slam, Dave Martinez beat out an infield single and went to second on Paul Noce's sacrifice bunt. After Leon Durham was intentionally walked, Bob Dernier singled off reliever Keith Comstock to give the Cubs a 9-8 lead. Three more Cubs runs scored on a double by Moreland, a passed ball and a triple by Davis.

Les Lancaster, 2-0, pitched the seventh and eighth innings to pick up the win.

San Diego jumped out to a 7-0 lead off Cubs starter Jamie Moyer.

The Padres scored three runs in the first on a RBI double by Randy Ready and a two-run single by Carmelo Martinez. Chris Brown's three-run homer in the second made it 6-0. It was Brown's seventh homer of the season and first since he was acquired by the Padres from San Francisco in a seven-player trade last weekend.

Stan Jefferson's RBI single in the third gave the Padres a 7-0 lead.

The Cubs scored two runs in the third and added two more in the sixth on a double by Rafael Palerimo and run-scoring singles by Davis and Brian Dayett.

There were no incidents stemming from Tuesday's beaning of Cubs outfielder Andre Dawson, which resulted in seven ejections. Before the game, umpire John Kibler warned both teams about brushback pitches.

Clark, McGee power Cards over LA

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Jack Clark hit a three-run homer and Willie McGee followed with a home run, leading the St. Louis Cardinals to their sixth straight victory, a 6-3 triumph over the Los Angeles Dodgers in the first game of a two-night doubleheader Wednesday.

Clark leads the major leagues with 82 runs batted in and tied Cincinnati's Eric Davis for the National League home run lead with 25. The Cardinals who began the night with an eight-game lead in the NL East, have their longest winning streak of the season.

Clark and McGee homered in the fifth inning off Fernando Valenzuela, 7-7, who had beaten St. Louis six straight times since July 1984.

Bob Forsch, 8-3, scattered four hits before Mike Marshall and Mickey Hatcher homered in the seventh inning. Pedro Guerrero hit his 17th homer in the eighth against reliever Todd Worrell.

Valenzuela did not allow a hit until Tommy Herr doubled with one out in the fourth.

Starting lineups set for All-Stars

NEW YORK (AP)—The selection of Dave Winfield, Don Mattingly, Willie Randolph and Rickey Henderson gave the New York Yankees half of the starting positions picked by the fans for the American League All-Star team in results of balloting announced Wednesday.

No other team in either league had more than two players among the starters.

Ozzie Smith of the St. Louis Cardinals won the top vote-getter, drawing 2,254,409 votes to win the starting position at shortstop in the National League.

The defending world champion Mets, who have been trailing in the NL East race most of the season, will be represented among the starters by catcher Gary Carter and outfielder Darryl Strawberry. The St. Louis Cardinals with a solid lead in the NL East, also will have two starters—Smith and first baseman Jack Clark.

Picked as the other infield starters in the National League were Chicago Cubs second baseman Ryne Sandberg and third baseman Mike Schmidt of the Philadelphia Phillies. Sandberg out with an ankle injury, will be unable to play.

Cubs outfielder Andre Dawson, signed by Chicago as a free agent this season, was picked for a starting spot in the outfield along with Strawberry and Eric Davis of the Cincinnati Reds.
